COLOPHON

The 2001 Edition of the Kaleidoscope was printed on 112 pages by Herff Jones Yearbook, Charlotte, North Carolina. Press run was 1000 with a trim size of 9x12. The paper stock is Ermine Special 80 pound matte paper.

The cover photo was taken by Alain Pons.

Times New Roman was used for all body copy and captions, and Lithos Bold was used for headlines. Backgrounds were designed by Jamie DeViese.

Student portraits were taken by Dementi Studios of Richmond, Virginia. Unfortunately, not all of the portraits taken by Dementi were included because of technical difficulties resulting in the loss of pictures. If you had your picture taken and it does not appear in this book, the Executive Board apologizes. All other pictures were taken by the staff, Media Relations, and the Athletic Department.

The cost of the Kaleidoscope is included in the student activities fee and is therefore available to all students at no extra charge. Copies are available to those outside the student body at a cost of $35. Shipping fees may apply.

NO PORTION OF THIS BOOK MAY BE REPRINTED WITHOUT PERMISSION OF THE EDITOR OR, IN HIS ABSENCE, THE BOARD OF PUBLICATIONS. For more information, contact the Kaleidoscope at Box 655, Hampden-Sydney, VA 23943, (804) 223-6321; fax (804) 223-6399.

THE TIGER'S EYE

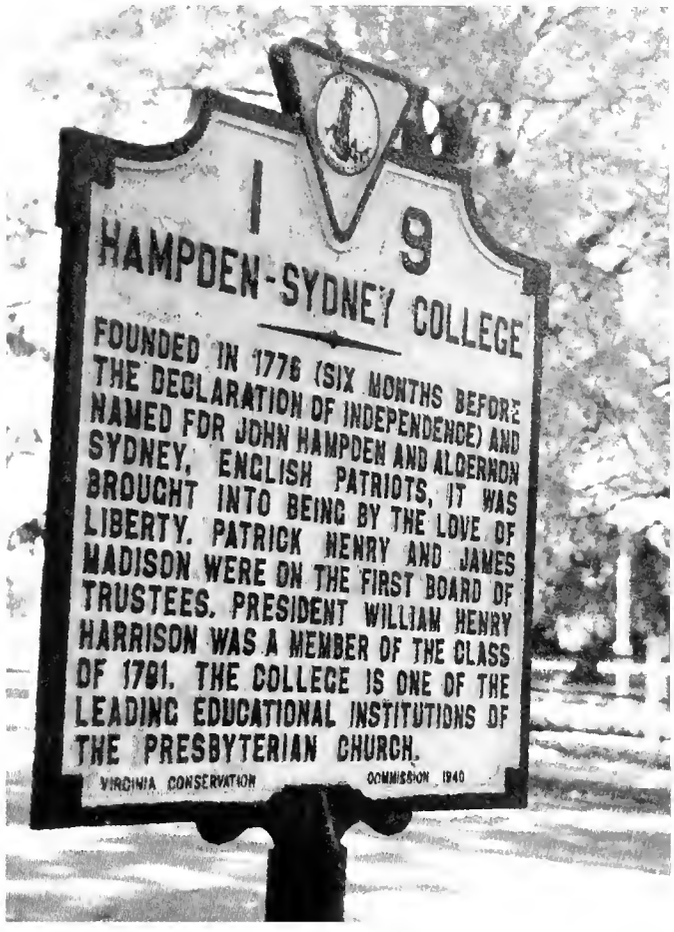

HONOR, INTEGRITY, HISTORY, SPIRIT AND BEAUTY ARE BUT A FEW OF THE WORDS THAT COME TO MIND WHEN STUDENTS AND ALUMNI THINK OF HAMPDEN-SYDNEY COLLEGE AND LIFE ON THIS HILL. AS THE DAYS PASS ONWARD, HAMPDEN-SYDNEY AND HER MEN, HER TIGERS, REMAIN TRULY UNIQUE. THE HILL STANDS OUT AS THE IDEAL PLACE FOR MEN TO BE MEN, TO LEARN AND TO GROW AS INDIVIDUALS.

WHERE ELSE CAN A STUDENT SIT DOWN TO A CORDIAL MEAL WITH A PROFESSOR OR WITH A STAFF MEMBER AND DISCUSS THE EVENTS OF THE DAY? WHERE ELSE CAN A STUDENT SPEND TIME WITH HIS FRIENDS—HIS BROTHERS—AND BE ASSURED THAT THEY WILL ALWAYS BE THERE EVEN IN TIMES OF DIRE NEED? THERE ARE MANY MEMORIES WITHIN HAMPDEN-SYDNEY'S GATES—FROM THE PARTIES TO THE PAPERS AND, OF COURSE, THE WOMEN—WHICH HAVE FORMED AND WILL CONTINUE TO FORM CLASSES INTO "GOOD MEN AND GOOD CITIZENS."

THINK ABOUT OUR BROTHERHOOD, ABOUT THE MEMORIES YOU HAVE MADE AND THE EXPERIENCES YOU HAVE HAD AT HAMPDEN-SYDNEY COLLEGE. REMEMBER THEM AS YOU LEAF THROUGH THE PAGES OF THE KALEIDOSCOPE AND CARRY THEM WITH YOU LONG AFTER YOU PLACE THIS BOOK UPON A DUSTY SHELF...

...HERE IT IS, LIFE ON THE HILL, THROUGH THE EYE OF THE TIGER.

CAMPUS LIFE

DREW AND WILSON: HAMPDEN-SYDNEY ICONS IN THE DAWN OF A NEW YEAR

Samuel V. Wilson stepped down as College president in the summer of 2000, but he continued to play important roles in campus life.

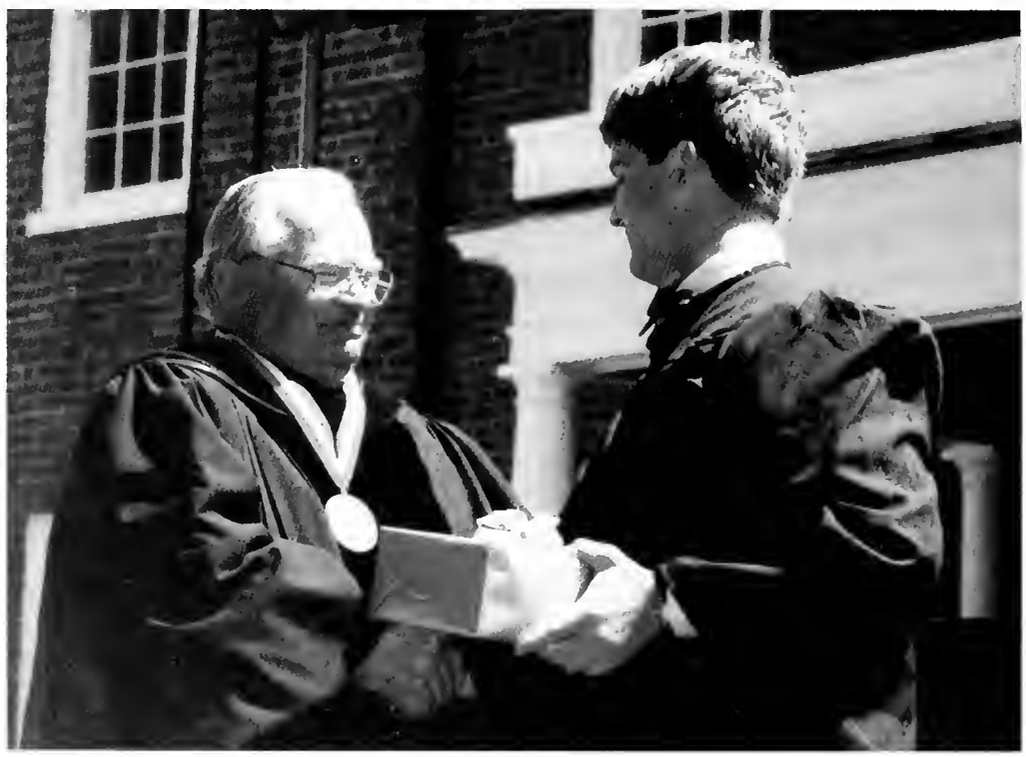

During his term as president, General Wilson exuded a confidence and character that was highly contagious. For many students, General Wilson is the epitome of the Hampden-Sydney Gentleman. Throughout the 2000-01 school year, General Wilson could often be seen at a sporting event or having lunch in the dining hall. He resumed his post in the faculty as a professor of Political Science, as he was famed for his class on U.S. National Intelligence.

A self-proclaimed "people person," General Wilson has never been at a loss for words. Simply put, he loves to talk and to meet with the students who attend the school he treasures so very much.

2000 also said good-bye to Dean of Students, Lewis H. Drew. For forty-one years, Dean Drew played many roles at Hampden-Sydney College: student, fraternity member, Director of Admissions, Director of Financial Aid and Registrar, and finally Dean of Students.

It is difficult to overstate Dean Drew's success. His awards range from being named an American Council on Education Fellow in Academic Administration in 1977-78, to being awarded Who's Who in America several times, to receiving a student government award from Hampden-Sydney in 1973.

Dean Drew served as Special Assistant to the President for the 2001 school year.

Michael Blackwell presents the Senior Class gift to President Emeritus Wilson for his continuing efforts to provide Hampden-Sydney students with the best possible education.

President Emeritus Wilson delivers a powerful commentary. Wilson was known for placing emphasis on honor and integrity and for working hard to help form "good men and good citizens."

Dean Drew working hard at his post before his retirment. Dean Drew served as Special Assistant to the President during the 2000-2001 school year.

LEADING THE WAY

On October 21, 2000, Dr. Walter M. Bortz III became Hampden-Sydney's 23rd president on the eve of the College's 225th anniversary. Dr. Bortz came to Hampden-Sydney College after having worked in higher education for over thirty years, over a decade of which was spent as vice president at The George Washington University in Washington, D.C.

The inauguration began with an invocation by the Reverend Robert A. Sandercox, an old friend and mentor of Dr. Bortz. Following the invocation, greetings were given by several members of the community, including student body president Micheal Blackwell.

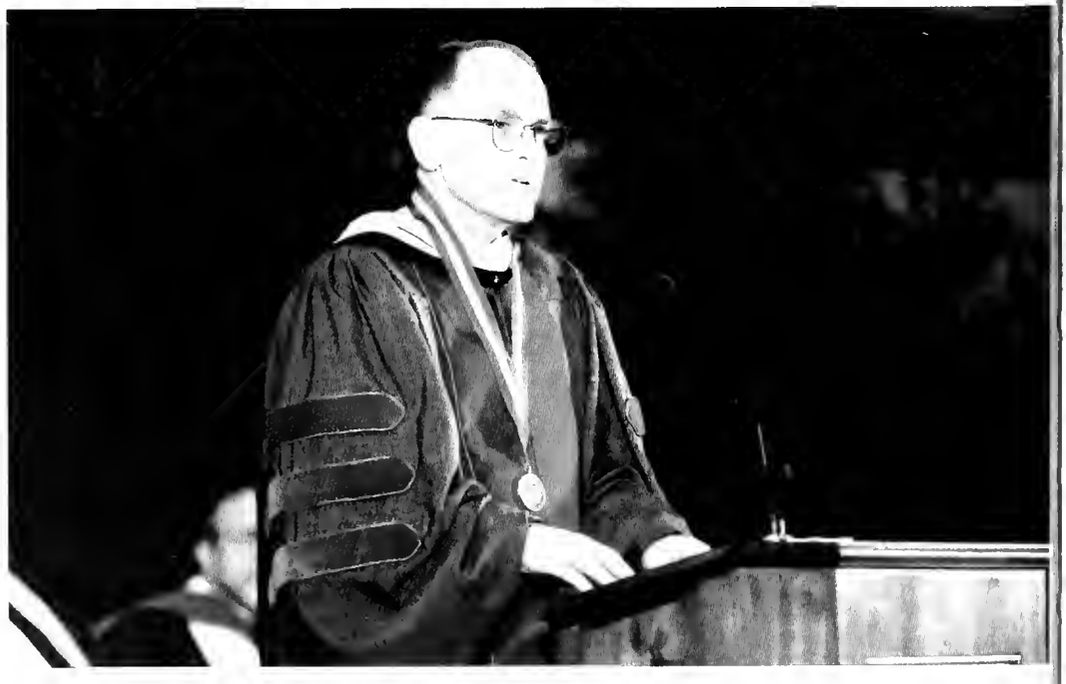

After officially being made President by Mr. Boinest, President Bortz spoke to the audience. In his inaugural address, he placed emphasis on the importance of leadership, not only at Hampden-Sydney but in the community and society beyond.

Students, alumni, Hampden-Sydney College faculty, and representatives from schools across the United States were in attendance of the ceremonies. Several students were involved in helping to ensure that the inaguration went smoothly by acting as ushers and shuttle escorts.

The inauguration was capped off with a performance by the Hampden-Sydney Glee Club and a benediction by the Reverend Dr. William E. Thompson.

Newly invested with the presidential medallian by Chairman Boinest, President Bortz delivers his inaugural address.

Shortly after assuming office, President Bortz immediately became involved in the communtiy. He is seen here speaking at a Prince Edward County school.

President Bortz looks anxiously at the scoreboard to remind himself of the winning score by the Tigers at the ODAC Basketball championship game.

Bortz gives his congratulations to the class of 2001 at Commencement.

President Emeritus Wilson shows his support of Hampden-Sydney College's new president shortly before the investiture ceremony began.

HOMECOMING AND RANDOLPH-MACON GAMES: NEW FRIENDS AND FAMILIAR FACES

Alumni and students gather around the Founders parking lot during the Homecoming football game. Because alcoholic beverages were not permitted in the stands, students often found their way over to the parking area where they could enjoy a drink. The setting gave students an opportunity to speak with alumni in an informal atmosphere.

Ben Winters and friends take a seat on the grass to enjoy the football game against Emory and Henry College. The social and friendly environment surrounding Homecoming encouraged students and friends to wander around and meet new people.

Spoken like a true Hampden-Sydney man. Carpenter residents made sure to give Randolph-Macon students a warm welcome as they entered the school. "The Game" brings out a school spirit fueled by emotion and a desire to beat Macon.

Family and friends show their Tiger pride during the Macon game.

A MIDWINTER

TIGER'S TALE

Hampden-Sydney College's campus is especially beautiful during a wintery snow shower. Here Middlecourt, the president's home, is nestled quietly among snow-covered trees and bushes.

GREEK WEEK

Dean Klein makes sure that the "tug-of-war" match gets off to a fair start. Greek Week 2001 brought back the Greek games after a hiatas.

Evan Smith of the Theta Chi fraternity looks as though he has gone through an extensive training and conditioning program in preparation for the belly flop contest.

These fraternities fight to the death to win the tug-of-war.

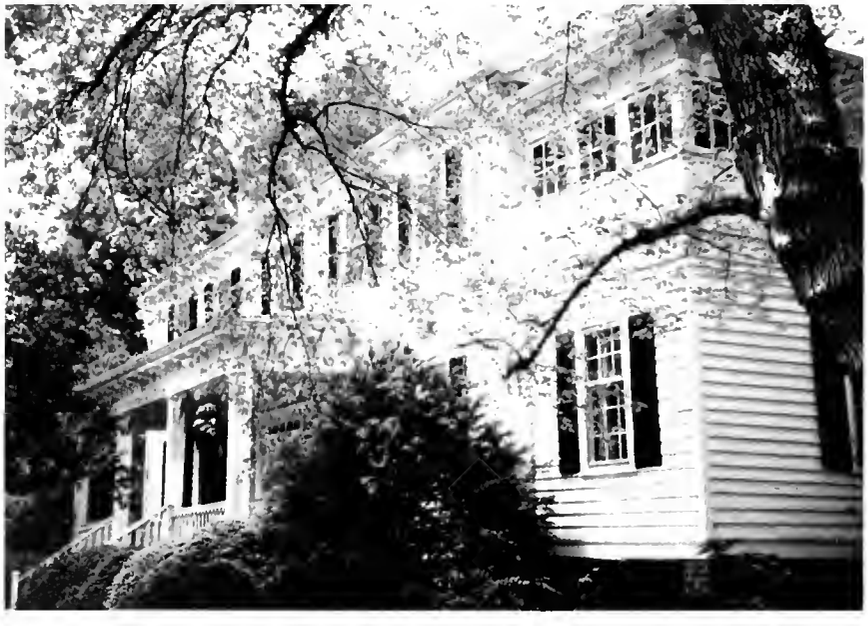

THORNTON PLACE STIRS CONTROVERSY

Historic Thornton Place was the center of the biggest controversy during the 2000-01 school year. The house, which was built around 1815, was once home to Dr. Edward and Roberta Crawley. Upon Nurse Crawley's leaving, the Treasurer and Vice President of Business Affairs, along with the Board of Trustees, decided that what was likely one of the oldest structures on campus should be destroyed and that a new residence should be built in its place.

The final decision was based in large part on the estimated $800,000 that would be necessary to renovate and maintain the house.

Others argued, however, that Thornton Place was an irreplaceable part of the College and that all efforts should be made to maintain it. Once the decision became public, and the students became aware of the situation, many opinions came forward. Petitions were started and phone calls were made, all in the hopes that the decision would be reconsidered. Ultimately, the decision stood and preparations to tear down Thornton Place were made.

However, the Board of Trustees accepted a check for $1 for the purchase of the nearly 200 year-old house. Historic Relocations, in Delaware, took down the old house in order to move it to Atlanta.

Thornton Place, a historical building on campus, was the center of controversy throughout the second semester. The beautiful home was ultimately saved, though the situation still ended with the removal of the old house from the Hampden-Sydney community.

FIRE

HITS TOO CLOSE TO HOME

It was the obliteration of the most well-recognized symbol of Longwood College, and it all started with an air raid siren at 9:20 on the night of Tuesday, April 24, 2001. As flames leapt through the roof of the Rotunda and shot into the air hundreds of feet, a Hampden-Sydney volunteer fire department truck was the second on the scene. As more joined in the fight and the fire spread to engulf East Ruffner, West Ruffner, the Rotunda, and Grainger, these men worked hard to limit the amount of damage to Tabb and South Ruffner dormitories.

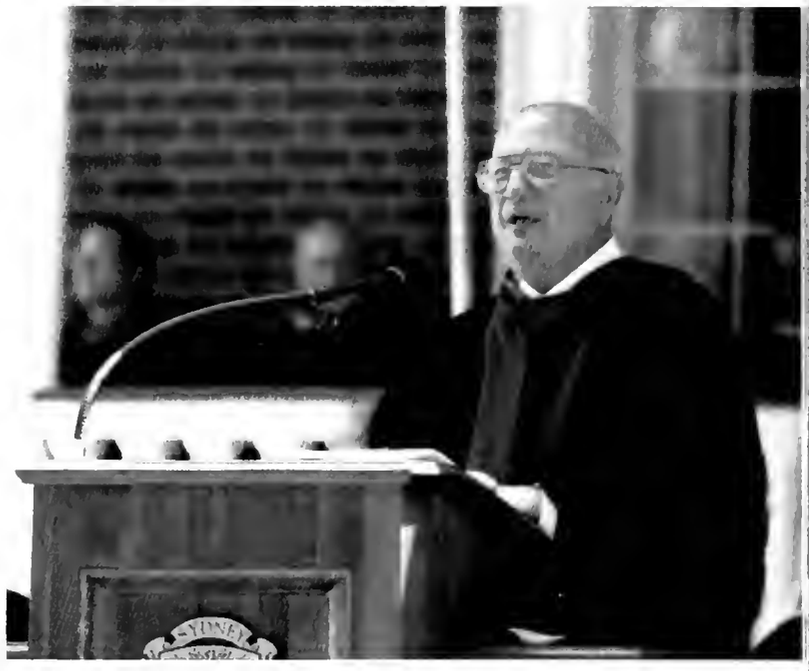

Across the street, residents of these dorms gathered, joined by others in the Longwood, Farmville, and Hampden-Sydney communities, staring shocked at the desecration of what has been home to so many people.

"It's like watching your home burn," was the cry from many of the students and alumni who stood across the street watching parts of the building cave in.

It was a long night for all, with emotional exhaustion taking most spectators inside by 4 a.m. The firefighters persisted until close to noon Wednesday, coming back as flare-ups occurred over the next day and a half.

A NEW BEGINNING: GRADUATION 2001

Dr. Douglas Foard speaks to the Class of 2001.

The Mother's Day Commencement ceremony kicked off this year in fine old Hampden-Sydney tradition with several graduates bringing along bottles of bubbly and ever so gracefully popping the corks throughout the commencement ceremony. An air of excitement filled the lawn of Venable Hall as hundreds of family members, faculty, staff, and graduates anxiously awaited the moment the diplomas were distributed.

Dr. Douglas Foard, Executive Secretary of the prestigious Phi Beta Kappa Society, delivered the commencement address after receiving a Doctor of Humane Letters from the College for his work in the advancement of academic achievement and his devotion to higher learning. Dr. Foard, a graduate of Randolph-Macon College, was received respectfully by graduates.

Kristian Hargadon delivered a valedictory speech in which he spoke of his love of Hampden-Sydney and his best wishes for the future of his fellow graduates.

Graduation draws women from all over.

Dean Farley dons his blue seersucker suit and prepares to distribute Commencement programs.

"My third bottle and I'm going strong." Conlan takes a moment to divert his attention elsewhere.

"This is much better than that stuff Conlan is drinking."

These Hampden-Sydney boys are now men, educated and enlightened by their time here.

Dré Sessoms receives his commission in the United States Army.

SENIORS

To Members of the Class of 2001:

I am writing this letter to you in the President's Office in Atkinson Hall on a beautiful sun-brightened morning in April. The dogwoods are in full bloom as are the tulips. As I walked down Via Sacra to the office, several dogs came bounding along interrupted only briefly by a darting squirrel in front of Venable. Students crisscrossed the campus for a variety of destinations. It is in every way a moment in time that is so reminiscent of the Hampden-Sydney College that you came to love during your years here.

Time after time you will return to these pages of The Kaleidoscope to remember and relive your college days. You will return to remember names of places and people; you will return to reflect on classmates and professors; you will return to recall moments that years and time will endeavor to hide from you. The memories are precious, and these pages will help you to retain them throughout life. They are snapshots, your snapshots of a time and events that are forever a part of your history.

As the first year of my presidency at Hampden-Sydney College comes to a close, I want to thank you, my frist graduating class, for the honor I have had in working with you to build on this college's already strong foundations. This truly is a "special place" and The Hill an idyllic setting unlike any other I have known. I hope you will think often of your alma mater with affection and pride and seek ways to nurture her as she has you these last four years. Hampden-Sydney College is now dependent upon you to help maintain its unique setting and extraordinary programs so that its future and its future generations may be enhanced and insured of the same experiences you enjoyed.

May you all live well and in interesting times. And may Hampden-Sydney College, with your help and support, continue to grow from strength to strength.

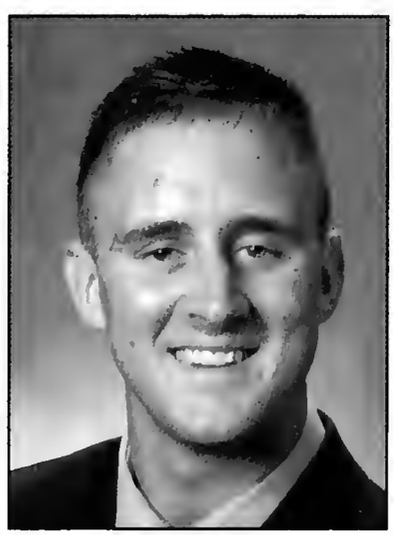

Sincerely,

Professor Brinkley, Michael Blackwell, and others stand during a moment of prayer at the Bell Tower ceremony commemorating 225 years of life on the Hill.

Senior Kevin Swann shoots his final ODAC championship point. Seniors, both on and off the court, were a powerful influence on life at Hampden-Sydney. They have helped to set an example for future generations of Hampden-Sydney men.

Gordon Yowell takes a bittersweet breath as the reality of Graduation finally hits.

The Long Walk...Kristian Hargadon returns to his seat just after he delivered his valedictory speech.

CONGRATULATIONS SENIORS!

WINDING DOWN...
...TIGER STYLE

WHETHER KICKING BACK TO WATCH AN EVENT ON FULTON FIELD...

...OR ATTENDING CLASS BY TADPOLE HOLE...

...ONE THING IS FOR CERTAIN...

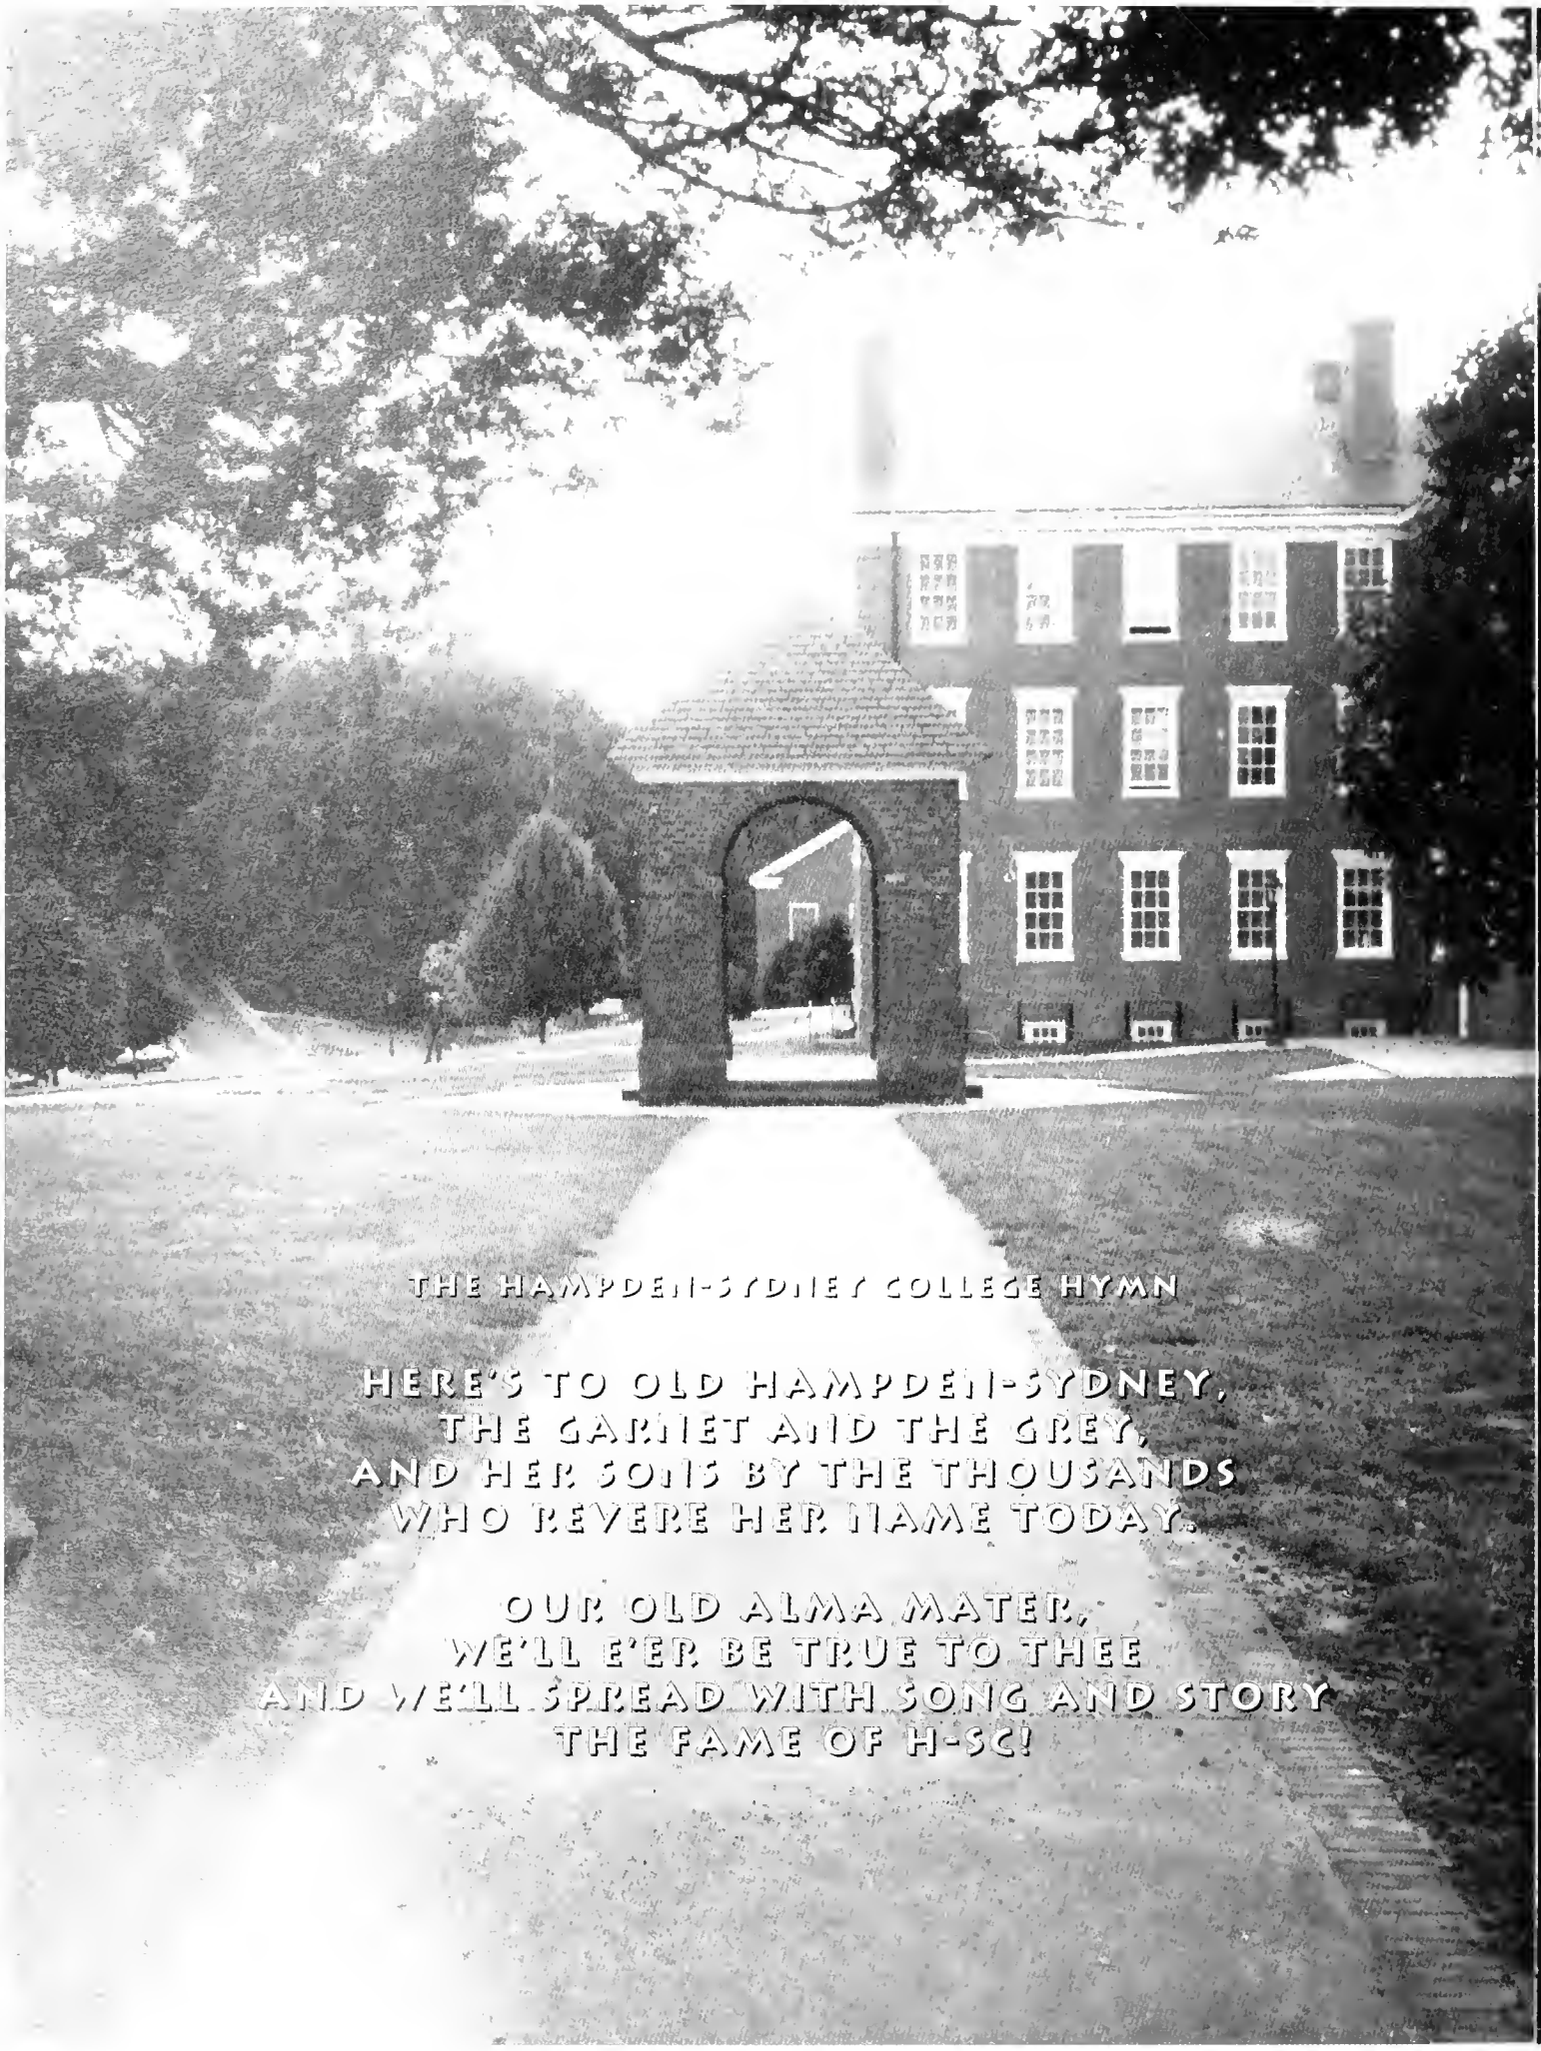

...LIFE IS NEVER THE SAME...

...ONCE YOU'VE SEEN IT THROUGH...

...THE EYE OF THE TIGER.

THE HAMPDEN-SYDNEY COLLEGE HYMN

HERE'S TO OLD HAMPDEN-SYDNEY,
THE GARNET AND THE GREY,
AND HER SONS BY THE THOUSANDS WHO REVERE HER NAME TODAY.

OUR OLD ALMA MATER,
WE'LL E'ER BE TRUE TO THEE
AND WE'LL SPREAD WITH SONG AND STORY
THE FAME OF H-SC!

DATE DUE
